Would you like to know the city of Girona? And the city of Barcelona?

If so, come to COAC. With the workshop Sense Moure't del Sofa (Without leaving the couch), aimed at children between 6 and 10 years old, participants will be able to learn about these cities through virtual connections.

By using new technologies, and with the support of Arquect [5], participants will become tourists looking for similarities and differences between the cities, studying their history, structure, growth patterns and other features. Cities will become interesting labyrinths where children can investigate, learn and have fun.

On November 29th, children in Barcelona will discover the city of Girona, and children in Girona will learn about Barcelona.

The workshops are the result of an original idea by Arquitectives [6]. They have the support of Barcelona City Council. Free admission, limited places.

To participate in Barcelona, you need to register here [7].
