Development By Design, organized by ESARQ-UIC and Roca, is starting on January the 22nd. The lecture series will discuss equity and development in the world of architecture.

NGOs and experts in the field of development will debate with professors from the Master of International Cooperation in Sustainable Emergency Architecture (ESARQ-UIC) on the problems arising from the practice of architecture and design.

The first lecture will be conducted by Nathaniel Corum (Architecture for Humanity) and Carmen Mendoza, and will take place on Thursday, January 22nd at 7pm at Roca Barcelona Gallery (c. Joan Güell, 211).

Please confirm attendance [2].

From January to April, Roca Barcelona Gallery will host a lecture a month, always at 7pm:

- February 10th: Dan Lewis (UN-HABITAT, Urban?s Resilience Institute), accompanied by Professor Hug March.
- March 26th: Susana Oliver (World Vision), together with architect Emilio Hormias.
- April 21st: Teddy Cruz (Center for Urban Ecologies), accompanied by architect and critic Fredy Massad.
